What people are saying!

"I am a mother of a child diagnosed with autism. I have learned more in 5 hours than I have learned in 5 years!"

Fantastic presentation and great speaker who explained all aspects and behaviours thoroughly.

WONDERFUL! I loved the way your professional approach always included prayer and a Christian ethos. Such a great example and an inspiration, professionally.

Did You Know?

The incidence of Aspergers is thought to be 1 in 110. Whereas 1 in 59 (2018) are on the ASD spectrum. As many as 50% of people with Aspergers may be undiagnosed.

There are currently four males diagnosed with Aspergers for every one female, but the true ratio may be as high as one female for every two males.

ADHD affects about 10% of school-age kids. Boys are about three times more likely than girls to be diagnosed with it, though it's not understood why.

Many people with autism have strong passions and deep interests. Getting to know likes and dis-likes can help you understand what motivates the child. Children with autism can participate in most activities that other kids do.
